Purdue Grants

Purdue considers grant support for a variety of initiatives. While we place emphasis on corporate citizenship in communities where we operate our business, we also support national, regional, and local initiatives to help address the opioid crisis.

All grant applications must:

- Address an identified need
- Support a specific initiative or program
- Provide target metrics or projected outcomes

Primary grant focus areas:

- Helping to address the opioid crisis
- Community economic development
- Adolescent and teen education

We will not consider applications that request funds for:

- Individuals
- Organizations or programs outside the United States
- Political action groups, candidates, or lobbying efforts
- Religious, social, or athletic organizations
- Social, athletic, or student group activities
- General operating support
- Wage support for staff or administrative personnel beyond administration of specific programs or initiatives

Please note: At this time, Purdue is not accepting applications for healthcare education grants.

If you are interested in a grant to provide a continuing education course that complies with the Extended-Release and Long-Acting (ER/LA) Opioid Analgesics Risk Evaluation and Mitigation Strategy (REMS), there is a Request for Applications process from the REMS Program Companies, of which Purdue is a member.
